Psychotherapy is the human adventure of attempting to wrestle with Time, in an effort to escape from unwilling bondage to Habit, in order to liberate Choice. Immense steps in this direction were made by Freud, Rogers, and the others whose contributions we celebrate here at this Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference.

— James F. T. Bugental, Ph.D.

This conference is the most outstanding event in the history of psychotherapy. Passing on the torch of wisdom and knowledge, it is the force that brings diverse, and sometimes antagonistic approaches, together and gives us cohesion and a common vision. You will come out of the Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference understanding the wisdom of our fathers, our common heritage, the current advances, and more than a glimmer of what the future will hold. A must for every therapist and for every student of psychotherapy.

— Cloé Madanes

Psychotherapy is the human adventure of attempting to wrestle with Time, in an effort to escape from unwilling bondage to Habit, in order to liberate Choice. Immense steps in this direction were made by Freud, Rogers, and the others whose contributions we celebrate here at this Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference.

— James F. T. Bugental, Ph.D.

The Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference is a unique opportunity to learn from the leaders in the field as they exchange ideas and debate critical issues. Featured faculty are the experts who have shaped the field of psychotherapy. There is no comparable arena. It is an event not to be missed - a once in a lifetime learning opportunity!

— Donald Meichenbaum, Ph.D.

The Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference has an unparalleled heritage in providing up-to-date perspectives on psychotherapy, and its vitality celebrates the field of psychotherapy.

— Erving Polster, Ph.D.

A unique opportunity to meet and interact with the leading psychotherapists.

— James Masterson, M.D.

The Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference is an opportunity to honor the pioneers who have shaped our field. It is psychotherapy's most important gathering, and an incomparable learning experience. Come celebrate the 120th birthday of psychotherapy!

— Jeffrey K. Zeig, Ph.D., Director

The Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference

PURPOSE  An opportunity for leaders in the field of psychotherapy to present and interact on the topic of A Tribute to the Masters, by discussing the evolution of their approaches and the evolution of psychotherapy in general. Presenting at the Evolution of Psychotherapy will be experts, each of whom has made seminal contributions to the field. This is the fifth comprehensive gathering of master practitioners from major contemporary disciplines.

CONFERENCE SPONSOR  The Milton H. Erickson Foundation, Inc., is a federal nonprofit corporation, formed to promote and advance the contributions to the health sciences made by the late Milton H. Erickson, M.D. In addition to organizing congresses and workshops, the Erickson Foundation also organized three landmark Evolution of Psychotherapy Conferences in 1985, 1990, 1995 and 2000, attracting more than 7,000 professionals from around the world at each conference. The Milton H. Erickson Foundation Board of Directors are Jeffrey K. Zeig, Ph.D., Roxanna Erickson Klein, R.N., M.S., Ph.D., Camillo Loriedo, M.D., J. Charles Theisen, M.A., M.B.A., J.D., Bernhard Trenkle, Dipl. Psych. The Milton H. Erickson Foundation does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, age, national or ethnic origin, physical challenge or sex.

The conference is co-sponsored by California State University - Fullerton; Department of Counseling Psychology.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Attendees will increase their therapeutic skills by learning:
1) The basic principles and techniques of contemporary schools of psychotherapy.
2) The commonalities that underlie successful clinical work.
3) The historical development and future projections of psychotherapeutic

PROGRAM  The Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference has become an event not to be missed. Last held in the US in Anaheim (May 2000), professionals from around the globe gathered to hear and meet the designers of modern psychotherapy. This faculty will reassemble in Anaheim for the fifth Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference (December 2005), again promising to share the importance of their work. The schedule is subject to change.

The theme for this Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference is: A Tribute to the Masters.

The program for this landmark Conference is designed to maximize the opportunity for interaction among the faculty and between the faculty and participants. Presentations will include Point/Counterpoint Addresses, State of the Art Addresses, Workshops, Clinical Demonstrations, Dialogues, Panels, Conversation Hours and Keynote Addresses.

PRE-CONFERENCE EVENT

Workshop 1

Living a Life of Joy

Dr. Patch Adams chose 41 years ago never to have a bad day. He will present this audacious thought as a possibility for anyone, and give an interpretation of how he got to the abstention of pain and suffering. He will hint at possibilities. The workshop will spend one hour in exercises and two hours in exchanges.

Workshop II

What is Your Love Strategy?

Patch Adams will show that there is a lack of education and action in loving in the world, and a need for each person to have an active strategy for loving. Dr. Adams will give a pep talk for love and introduce strategies for loving. He will show a movie to demonstrate his points of view.

---

Patch will be available after his last workshop to sign his books!
The Emperor’s New Clothes
Hunter “Patch” Adams, M.D.

So many horrible things are parading around in fancy clothes and our profession is remarkably silent. Things on this planet are at a medical emergency, threatening extinction, and the medical profession is too low key. Patch wants to spark a role for our profession to sense and change. Mental illness may be a normal response to this disaster - not requiring medication, rather calling for action to create healthy contexts.

Workshop 1
Rational Emotive Behavior Relationship Therapy
Albert Ellis, Ph.D.

Dr. Ellis will present cognitive, emotional, and behavioral techniques to help men and women in their sex, love and marital relationships. He also will include therapy helping their interpersonal relationships in work situations.

Workshop 2
Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy of Personality Disorders (Disorders of the Self)
James Masterson, M.D.

The therapeutic alliance is described along with transference and transference acting-out. The therapeutic task is defined - i.e., to help the patient convert transference acting-out to therapeutic alliance and transference through appropriate interventions. The psychotherapy of each of the disorders (Borderline, Narcissistic and Schizoid) is described in terms of indications, therapeutic technique and goals. Clinical examples will be given. Two videotapes of psychotherapy will be presented - one with a Borderline patient and the other with a Narcissistic disorder. Countertransference problems are described.

Workshop 3
Therapeutic Pathways to Restoring Connectedness
Erving Polster, Ph.D.

Within the enormous complexity of human experience, the reflex to connectedness rescues the person from fragmentation. Connectedness may be therapeutically restored along four pathways: moment to moment, person to person, event to event and one part of the person to the other parts. Dr. Polster will discuss and demonstrate how to do this.

Workshop 4
Imago Relationship Therapy: A Couples Therapy Based on the Relational Paradigm - I
Harville Hendrix, Ph.D.

Imago is couple’s therapy that posits that all healing is relational. The core couples issue is ruptured connection, replicating the rupture of connection in childhood. This rupture and the defenses against it influence marital choice and the quality of the marital relationship. The core therapeutic challenge is to help couples restore and maintain connection. To that end, Imago therapists facilitate couples to reconnect using a specific dialogical process, which creates emotional safety, in which couples can help heal each other and grow toward wholeness.

Workshop 5
Partnering with Clients to Improve the Process and Outcome of Treatment
Scott D. Miller, Ph.D.

Based on pioneering research into the curative factors associated with effective clinical work across treatment approaches and disciplines, participants will learn how to partner with clients to tailor treatment for maximum effect and efficiency. Miller also will present a simple, valid and reliable method for maximizing the effectiveness and efficiency of treatment based on client feedback about the process and outcome of treatment.

Workshop 6
The Evolution of Milton Erickson’s Hand Levitation Approach to Therapeutic Hypnosis and Psychotherapy
Ernest Rossi, Ph.D.
Erickson’s hand levitation and pantomime techniques have evolved into simple, easy to learn, activity-dependent approaches to therapeutic hypnosis, and are consistent with the theory and research of the current neuroscience on brain plasticity and the molecular genomic level of psychotherapy. Group and individual demonstrations with volunteers from the audience will illustrate this.

Workshop 7
The “1-2-3” and “3-2-1” of Perspective Taking
Ken Wilber; Bert Parlee, Ph.D.; Roger Walsh, M.D., Ph.D.
This workshop is an exploration of the psycho-dynamics of projection, introjection and integration of shadow materials in both their “dark” and “golden” manifestations. An experiential approach.

Workshop 8
EMDR and Adaptive Information Processing: Clinical Applications and Case Conceptualization
Francine Shapiro, Ph.D.
EMDR is guided by the Adaptive Information Processing paradigm, which differentiates it from other forms of psychotherapy. The implications of this paradigm will be explored in relation to a variety of recent clinical case studies and research reports. Questions from participants will be used to explore potential clinical applications.

Workshop 9
Treatment of Individuals with Aggressive Behavior: A Life-Span Treatment Approach
Donald Meichenbaum, Ph.D.
A life-span cognitive-behavioral approach will be offered to treat individuals who have problems controlling their anger and who have related comorbid psychiatric problems. The issues of prediction of violence and how to intervene across the entire life-span will be highlighted. Specific cognitive-behavioral interventions will be demonstrated.

Workshop 10
Showing How Counselors Can Move to a New Leadership Role in Delivering Mental Health Separate from DSM-IV Diagnoses and Brain Drugs
William Glasser, M.D.
Dr. Glasser has moved away from the DSM-IV and the medical model. He does not believe that any of the mental illnesses diagnosed in the DSM-IV actually exist because none of them are associated with pathology in the brain. By using choice theory he has moved from the medical school model to the public health model to show how counselors can deliver mental health more effectively than psychiatrists are doing now and at a fraction of what we are now spending.

Workshop 11
The Basics of Multimodal Therapy and Common Mistakes that Most Psychotherapists Make
Arnold Lazarus, Ph.D. and Clifford Lazarus, Ph.D.
The BASIC I.D. as a template for assessment and therapy will be outlined, as well as methods unique to Multimodal Therapy such as Bridging and Tracking procedures. Many practitioners of psychotherapy make costly mistakes. These will be discussed in detail with a view to enhancing the clinical effectiveness of the participants.

Workshop 12
Imago Relationship Therapy: A Couples Therapy Based on the Relational Paradigm - II
Harville Hendrix, Ph.D.
Imago is couple’s therapy that posits that all healing is relational. The core couples issue is ruptured connection, replicating the rupture of connection in childhood. This rupture and the defenses against it influence marital choice and the quality of the marital relationship. The core therapeutic challenge is to help couples restore and maintain connection. To that end, Imago therapists facilitate couples to reconnect using a specific dialogical process, which creates emotional safety, in which couples can help heal each other and grow toward wholeness.

Workshop 13
The Myth of Mental Illness: 45 Years Later
Thomas Szasz, M.D.
Dr. Szasz will compare and contrast the psychiatric and social scene in the late 1950’s when he wrote The Myth of Mental Illness, with the present psychiatric and social scenes. He will speculate about the impact of that book on psychiatric and psychotherapeutic thought and practice. Active audience participation is encouraged.

Treating Seriously Disturbed Young People
Jay Haley, M.A., Ph.D. (Hon.)
This complete, edited program of good quality video will show cases, supervision, treatment and outcome with seriously disturbed children and adolescents.
Workshop 14
Do-It-Yourself Redecision Therapy
Mary Goulding, M.S.W.
Using fantasy, remembrances of things past, the present, and how to give and get in the future, every attendee will participate as leader and as client in group exercises.

Workshop 15
Mapping Narrative Conversations
Michael White, B.A.S.W.
Michael will present a range of maps of narrative practice. This will include maps for “getting started”, maps for the “middle journey”, maps for the “intersecting journeys” of fellow travelers, maps for finding the “valued pathways”, and maps for the negotiation of “difficult territories.”

Workshop 16
Enlivening the Body: Freeing the Mind
Alexander Lowen, M.D.
After an introduction to the key concepts of working with the body, all participants will be invited to do some bioenergetic exercises to experience the value of this technique. Participants will be asked to describe their experience.

Workshop 17
Ericksonian Therapy: Art and Essence
Jeffrey Zeig, Ph.D.
Fundamental methods of Ericksonian hypnosis and psychotherapy will be presented and demonstrated. Experiential exercises will help attendees master essential concepts, which can be applied by clinicians of any persuasion to empower treatment goals.

Workshop 18
The Family vs. Addiction
Claudia Black, Ph.D.
Beginning with a historical view of addiction in the family, Dr. Black will identify the many challenges of working family systems. The workshop will include a variety of intervening strategies to engage family members as a part of the recovery process.

Workshop 19
Transference Focused Psychotherapy (TFP)
Otto Kernberg, M.D.
Dr. Kernberg will present specific, empirically tested psychodynamic psychotherapy for patients with severe personality disorders. The strategy, tactics and techniques of TFP will be described and illustrated with clinical material. Indications and contraindications, prognosis, and special crises and complications in the treatment will be explored.

Workshop 20
How to Assess a Marriage Using an Empirically-Based Theory
John Gottman, Ph.D. and Julie Gottman, Ph.D.
Scientific research on marriage will be reviewed to answer two questions: What is dysfunctional when a marriage is failing, and what is functional when a marriage is working well? Myths and misconceptions about these questions will be discussed. Research findings will be reviewed to derive two checklists. Although checklists are helpful, they are not fully adequate. To assess a marriage and to intervene we need theory, which will be delineated.
Workshop 21
Advanced Strategies for Working with Couples
Cloé Madanes
This workshop will cover a broad range of problems presented by couples - from the most common to the most difficult, including such issues as violence and difficulties with money. The strategies presented will range from simple straightforward directives to paradoxical techniques and the use of humor.

Workshop 22
Dialectical Behavior Therapy: Overview and Examples with Suicidal Clients
Marsha Linehan, Ph.D.
This workshop will start with a brief overview of Dialectical Behavior Therapy and other efficacious treatments for suicidal behaviors and Bi-Polar Disorder. We will then present a series of videos of DBT applied to BPD patients with intermittent commentary and discussion of the DBT procedures as they are used in the sessions.

Workshop 23
The Creative Reconstruction of Mind, Memory and Consciousness
Ernest Rossi, Ph.D.
Lecture, group and individual demonstrations with volunteers from the audience will illustrate Rossi’s activity-dependent approaches to therapeutic hypnosis and psychotherapy that are consistent with the theory and research on the molecular-genomic level of brain plasticity for the creative reconstruction of mind, memory and consciousness.

Workshop 24
Family Assessment: Seven Steps Model
Salvador Minuchin, M.D.
This workshop will be a presentation of segments of one or two family therapy sessions describing how this model gives invaluable information to guide the practitioner in the development of therapy.

Workshop 25
Parenting with the Brain in Mind: How a Deeper Self-Understanding Can Help Promote Secure Attachment and Neural Integration
Daniel Siegel, M.D.
An interpersonal neurobiology approach to parenting helps psychotherapists promote secure attachment within families by nurturing the creation of coherent narratives of parents’ early life experiences. This scientific view proposes that empathetic relationships making sense within our life stories, harmonious mental functioning and an integrated brain all mutually reinforce each other.

Workshop 26
Cognitive Therapy: Basics and Beyond
Judith Beck, Ph.D.
In this interactive workshop, the basics of cognitive therapy will be described and demonstrated. How do you conceptualize patients, plan treatment, establish the therapeutic relationship, structure sessions, set an agenda, use basic cognitive and behavioral techniques, facilitate patients’ doing homework, elicit and respond to feedback, measure progress? Suggestions also will be offered for patients with more complex problems.

4:30 - 5:30 PM
KEYNOTE ADDRESS
Psychotherapy as Consciousness Adjustment
Mary Catherine Bateson, Ph.D.
Dr. Bateson will address the role of psychotherapy within the spectrum of kinds of lifelong learning, particularly the disorientation and identity diffusion that accompany rapid cultural change.

Most human problems are fueled by three key emotions: anxiety, fear and shame. Our world and our relationships shrink or expand in direct proportion to our ability to manage these difficult emotions. Dr. Lerner reveals the hidden mischief and wisdom of these unwanted emotions, and offers a helpful and provocative perspective on the many faces of courage.

Theory and rationale supporting a new unified approach to emotional disorders are described along with some preliminary experience with the protocol. It is suggested that this unified treatment may represent a more efficient and effective strategy in treating emotional disorders, pending further evaluation.

On Shaping One’s Future: The Exercise of Personal and Collective Self-Efficacy

Albert Bandura, Ph.D.

This address will focus on self-efficacy as the foundation of human motivation, well-being and accomplishments. Whatever other factors may serve as guides and motivators, they are rooted in the core belief that one has the power to effect changes. This address will analyze the source of people’s beliefs in their efficacy, their cognitive, motivational and emotional effects, and how to build a resilient sense of efficacy for personal and social betterment.

1:10 - 2:10 PM State of the Art Addresses

SOA Address 4The Evolution of Psychotherapy as Lived in My 60 Years as a Psychotherapist: Achievements, Setbacks and Hopes for the FutureNicholas Cummings, Ph.D.Psychotherapy practice, as we know it today, was born in World War II. Dr. Cummings was there, working therapeutically with paratroopers in combat, and he has been a psychotherapist and mental health activist in the 60 years since. He wrote the first prepaid psychotherapy insurance benefit in the late 1950s and demonstrated that psychotherapy should be part of all health insurance. he has been in the forefront as an active participant in psychotherapy's achievements, setbacks and hopes for the future. This address will highlight the 60 years of psychotherapy's evolution through the life of one of its leaders.

SOA Address 5Guerrilla Divorce BustingMichele Weiner-Davis, M.S.W.This address will highlight the powerfully pivotal role we play both in and out of our therapy offices when encountering couples whose marriages are teetering on the brink of divorce. A casual but intentional conversation over coffee or at a salon can change the course of people's lives. Learn how.
SOA Address 6

Constructing a New Self
Christine Padesky, Ph.D.

Fifteen years ago, a group of Beckian cognitive therapists (including Padesky) proposed that personality disorders represent adaptive coping strategies linked to personal belief systems rather than permanent psychopathology. Today she describes her cognitive therapy approach to help people construct a new self. These methods offer an intriguing vision for the future of cognitive therapy.

Workshop 27
Positive Psychology and Positive Interventions
Martin Seligman, Ph.D.

Happiness can be usefully dissolved into the Pleasant Life (Positive Emotions), the Engaged Life, and the Meaningful Life. The mission of Positive Psychology is to understand and build these three lives. Dr. Seligman will describe interventions that raise happiness, so defined, and will detail their effects on depression.

Workshop 28
Constructing a New Self (a continuation of the preceding SOA Address)
Christine Padesky, Ph.D.

Dr. Padesky developed this cognitive therapy approach for work with clients with personality disorders and other chronic and recurrent problems. She will demonstrate how to help clients recognize the benefits of personality change, construct a “new” system of personality that is desirable to them, and build new beliefs and interpersonal skills that strengthen and sustain a new personality system.

Workshop 29
Frontiers of Trauma Treatment
Bessel van der Kolk, M.D.

Starting with a review of recent studies on the neurobiology of trauma, Dr. van der Kolk will examine the utility of approaches from the fields of hypnosis, body oriented therapies and EMDR, both with research data and videotapes clinical interventions. The integration of these approaches during different stages of treatment will be discussed.

Workshop 30
Identity and Evolutionary Change
Robert Dilts

Identity has to do with such questions as “Who am I?”; “What are my limits?”; “What is my purpose?” Clarifying the deep structure of our identity allows us to express ourselves even more fully at the level of our behavioral surface structure. It involves: Finding and clarifying our life’s direction; Managing boundaries between self and others; Becoming clear about beliefs that support our identity and those which limit us; Expanding our sense of self; and Incorporating new dimensions of being.

Workshop 31
Behavioral Health as Primary Care: Psychotherapy’s Future as a Primary Care Profession
Nicholas Cummings, Ph.D. and William O’Donohue, Ph.D.

Several large health systems are now co-locating behavioral care providers (BCPs, primarily psychologists and social workers) in the primary care setting, side by side with primary care physicians (PCPs). Research has already shown when a PCP can walk the patient down the hall to the BCP’s office, 90% of patients engage in treatment as opposed to only 10% of referrals today. This presages opportunities for psychotherapists who wish to participate, and this workshop will address how to anticipate, prepare and avoid the pitfalls of a new integrated behavioral/primary care delivery system.

Session 13
James Masterson, M.D.
Integration of Object Relations Theory with Attachment Theory and Neurobiological Development of the Self Discussant: Erving Polster, Ph.D.

Session 18
Mary Goulding, M.S.W.
Being Old
Discussant: Salvador Minuchin, M.D.
SPECIAL PRESENTATION

7:00 - 9:00 PM

The Art of Psychotherapy

Irvin Yalom, M.D.

This presentation will be a discussion of existential psychotherapy and of group psychotherapy drawing especially from Yalom's new teaching novel, The Schopenhauer Cure. Dr. Yalom will discuss the therapist/client relationship from an existential therapy perspective; the practice of existentially oriented psychotherapy using recent clinical cases; the impact of death awareness on the conduct of life; the technique of the group therapist; the selection and preparation of group patients; the relevance of philosophy for therapy; the case for and against clinical philosophy. Dr. Yalom will sign books after his presentation.

STATE OF THE ART ADDRESSES

8:00 - 9:00 AM

SOA Address 7

Logical Levels of Change

Robert Dilts

The notion of "logical levels" refers to the fact that some processes and phenomena are created by the relationships between other processes and phenomena. The function of each level is to synthesize, organize and direct the interactions on the level below it. Changing something on an upper level would necessarily radiate downward, precipitating change on the lower levels. This presentation will cover the six basic levels of therapeutic change: environment, behavior, capabilities, beliefs and values, identity and spiritual.

SOA Address 8

The Emergence and Impact of the Relational Paradigm on Therapy

Harville Hendrix, Ph.D.

For decades, psychotherapy based upon the paradigm of the individual, has focused on the intrapsychic world of the client. The focus is now shifting to the interpersonal, as a result of the appearance of the relational paradigm from the collective unconscious. This shifting of paradigms will challenge and transform the process of diagnosis and therapeutic interventions of all forms of therapy. This address will outline this historical shift and suggest its implications for therapy theory and practice.

SOA Address 9

Toward an Interpersonal Neurobiology of Psychotherapy

Daniel Siegel, M.D.

Interpersonal neurobiology is a way to define mental health and the kinds of social experiences the brain requires to achieve a coherent mind. This interdisciplinary synthesis of science reveals an exciting convergence among research findings that helps us in mental health to explore the interplay among relationships, the mind and the brain. Experience shapes the connections in the brain in ways that we can now understand and harness within psychotherapy to help stimulate the neuronal activation and growth necessary to achieve resilience and emotional well-being.

WORKSHOPS

9:30 - 11:30 AM

Workshop 32

Practice with Dreams in Counseling and Therapy

James Hillman, Ph.D.

Dreaming is a natural human function from early childhood to late maturity. Beginning with Freud and Jung the practice of clinical psychology centered originally on dream analysis. The importance of dreaming has fallen into neglect in most contemporary therapies. This workshop offers practical cues for working with dreams to benefit participants own techniques, self-knowledge and their clients' psychic equilibrium.

Workshop 33

Imaginering: Helping Clients Find the Path to Change

Robert Dilts

Imaginering is a term coined by Walt Disney to describe the process he used to form dreams and then turn them into realities. The imaginering process essentially involves creating and evaluating the steps necessary to reach a desired state. It can be applied to help clients find creative solutions to many problems.

Workshop 34

A New Leadership Role for Mental Health Professionals

William Glasser, M.D.

The leadership role in Mental Health has been assumed by psychiatrists who diagnose mental illnesses that do not exist and treat them with potentially harmful brain drugs. Dr. Glasser will explain that mental health separate from mental illness does exist if we could change from the mental illness model to a new public health model based on mental health. This will allow psychotherapists to assume a leadership role they don't have now.

Workshop 35

Etiology, Psychopathology, Diagnosis and Treatment Indicators for Severe Personality Disorders

Otto Kernberg, M.D.

Present day knowledge and leading hypotheses regarding severe personality disorders will be reviewed, and their relationship to clinical characteristics of these patients clarified. A critical review of present classification will be followed by exploration of specific technical approaches to diagnostic interviewing and decision-making regarding specific therapeutic approaches to each patient.
Workshop 36
Growth Games for BEING the Best Therapist
Jeffrey Zeig, Ph.D.
This “playshop” will consist experiential clinician development exercises. While it is widely agreed that the person of the therapist is central to patient change, there are limited methods for developing the person of the therapist. Dr. Zeig will present a systemic model that can be easily transferred to make therapy and supervision more powerfully experiential.

SESSION 19 - BANDURA ADDRESS & CONVERSATION HOUR

Moral Disengagement in the Perpetration of Inhumanities
Albert Bandura, Ph.D.
This presentation examines the psychosocial mechanisms by which people selectively disengage moral self-sanctions from inhumane conduct. The moral disengagement may center on redefining inhumane conduct as a benign or socially worthy one by moral justification, sanitizing language and expedient comparison with worse cruelty; disavowal of personal agency in the harm one causes by diffusing or displacement of responsibility; disregarding or minimizing the injurious effects of ones actions and dehumanizing those who are victimized and blaming them for bringing the suffering on themselves. Given the many mechanisms for disengaging moral control at individual and collective levels, civilized life requires, in addition to human personal standard, safeguards built into social systems that uphold compassionate behavior and renounce cruelty.

Conversation Hour: Self-Efficacy, Moral Disengagement, and Applications of Social Cognitive Theory
Designed to Alleviate Some of the Most Urgent Global Problems.
Albert Bandura, Ph.D.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

The Place of Cognitive Therapy Today
Aaron Beck, M.D.
Dr. Beck will provide a perspective on the evolution and the place of cognitive therapy today. He will compare standard cognitive therapy to newer developments in theory and therapy such as mindfulness, attentional focus, and positive psychology. Dr. Beck also will discuss the role of cognitive approaches to conflict and suffering.

5th Conference

MARKET

In 1985, the Milton H. Erickson Foundation organized the first Evolution of Psychotherapy Conference, considered to be a landmark meeting in the history of psychotherapy. It coincided with the 100th birthday of psychotherapy.

The Conference was attended by 7,200 professionals, more than twice the number originally expected by the organizers. There were 25 exhibitors. Per capita expenditures of attendees at exhibit booths was extraordinary. Hundreds of thousands of dollars of professional goods were sold at the Conference.

The 1990, 1995 and 2000 Conferences brought similar results.
